Although many of the brick houses along this side of Warren Ave. were enlarged and remodeled after the Civil War and are now three stories in height with shed roofs and bracketed cornices, most were built in the early 1840's as two and a half story, late Federal style houses. 120-122 Warren Ave. still retains the two and a half story form. 102-104 Warren Ave. were built (and remain) two story plus attic, two bay wide houses.

This two story, three bay house with shed roof and modillion cornice is a remodeling of a 2 1/2 story house that had occupied this site from the 1840's. The house is now covered with formstone. A five bay deep, two story addition extends to the rear.

The house is two stories in height, 15' wide, and occupies a lot about 90' deep. The original brick has been covered with formstone. The shed roof is capped by a late, Classical Revival cornice consisting of a deeply projecting crown molding supported by a row of block modillions, set against a plain lower molding. Four carved brackets support the cornice; the end brackets being surmounted by modified acroteria. There is a single hooded rectangular chimney located on the north end wall of the main structure and a second hooded chimney located along the east wall of the rear addition.

The second floor window openings have segmentally arched lintels with scroll-sawed tympanum. They are hung with 1/1 sash. The wide first floor window has a round arched lintel, fitted with a single top light cut to fit the round arch, over a single lower light. The doorway has a round arched lintel fitted with a stained glass panel cut to fit the round arch. The door is a late Victorian double door, each section having a tall vertical glass panel set within the frame. The house sits on a fairly high basement, the entrance being reached by a flight of three marble steps. A wide, rectangular coal opening is located beneath the first floor window.
